HORRIBLY CRUEL, SAYS HIS PETITION

The Rev. F. W. Hawley Tells About Horsewhipping

Five Men Took Turns Beating Him
Until They Were Exhausted
With Exercise.

IS NOW CONFINED TO HIS BED

As a sequel to the horse whipping affair at Fulton several weeks ago, suit has been filed in the United States court by the Rev. F. W. Hawley for $100,000 damages against W. W. Meadows, H. T. Smith, H. F. Oliver, James White, Dick Thomas, Dr. George H. Taylor, prominent citizens of Fulton. Meadows has filed a suit in the state court at Fulton for $100,000 damages against the Rev. F. W. Hawley, on the ground that Hawley defamed the affections of his wife.

The Rev. F. W. Hawley was the pastor of the Presbyterian church at Fulton and had apartments in the hotel of Mr. Meadows. One night six weeks ago when the Rev. Mr. Hawley returned to Fulton he was taken at the station and whipped with horse whips. The affair created a sensation and now there is a divorce suit pending between Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Meadows.

As told in the petition the story is that the Rev. F. W. Hawley is a resident of Charlotte, N. C. and that on the night of June 10 between the hours of 12 o'clock midnight and 1 o'clock in the morning he alighted at the regular station at Fulton as a passenger and started for his hotel. Before his arrival, he says the defendants wrongfully, maliciously and unlawfully confederated and after he had alighted, in the presence of an armed posse, wrongfully assaulted him, deprived him of his liberty, placed him in irons and forced him to march down a public street in Fulton.

After marching, says the petition, a halt was made in the street and while the Rev. Mr. Hawley was in the hands of the defendants by force they beat him with whips and with the exception of a thin undershirt stripped him of his clothes. With whips and horse whips they took turns whipping him. When one was exhausted another would take the whip and whip Hawley. Hawley says they kicked him, beat him on the legs, stomach, back and breast until they were physically exhausted and a whip was worn out. Then they would rest for a moment and to get a new whip.

He became unconscious. During the whipping he says they cursed him, and said they intended to kill him, and he fully believed they would. Finally he became unconscious from the pain and cruelty. He says the defendant knocked him down, kicked him and bruised him with their fists, sticks and blindfolded him until he was injured internally and externally.

Hawley was supplied with such force as to make deep gashes, and below his knees to his neck he was badly injured. From the loss of blood he was so weakened he could not walk. At present he says the doctors have not healed, and that his health has been impaired and permanently injured. Large and unsightly scars are still on parts of his body from the blows, and he suffers pains in his head and breast. He has been confined to his bed for weeks, and has expended $700 for medical attention.

Judge Robbins and Mrs. Thomas of Mayfield, and Shollman & Smith of Clinton, are the attorneys for the Rev. Mr. Hawley.

Oliver was at one time tax supervisor for this district and Smith is a prominent lawyer of Fulton.

CLERK ARRESTED AS AN EMBEZZLER

"Billy" Semmon Ows State
$50,000, is Charged

Jefferson County Official, Just Deposed, Gets in Bad With State
Auditor.

SAVS HE IS ONLY $20,000 BACK.

Louisville, Ky., July 21.—William J. Semmon, retiring county clerk, was arrested last evening on a charge of embezzlement, it being alleged that he is short in his accounts as clerk of Jefferson county in a sum approximating from $15,000 to $50,000.

The arrest, which was made at the instance of Mayor Bligham, caused a tremendous sensation. Mr. Semmon furnished bond in the sum of $25,000 within a short time after his arrest.

Semmon was one of the officials whose office was declared vacant by the court of appeals in deciding the election contest cases. He was elected as a Democrat. When his successor, Phil H. Thompson, was appointed a few days ago the accounts of the office were checked up, with the result that the head bookkeeper this afternoon declared that there was a shortage of over $45,000. There had been rumors of a shortage for two years, but the books of State Auditor Hager, when examined, showed Semmon's accounts with the state to be correct up until June 1, 1907.

When Semmon's successor was appointed the former had just mailed a check for $15,000 to the state and took office for the month of June. Payment on this was refused by the bank on which it was drawn, and Mr. Semmon declared publicly that he had stopped payment when he found he was not to be retained in office. His idea being to have all accounts looked up and to settle in full with the state on his retirement.

When interviewed he stated emphatically that a full examination of the books would show that he did not owe the state over $22,000, the amount of his collections for June and July, which he had the legal right to withhold until he had been paid in full, and which will be paid in full. There was no shortage in the legal or moral sense of the word, he declared.

TWO WORKMEN INJURED AT OLD IRON FURNACE

Two damage suits were filed in circuit court.

James S. Underwood sued the Princess Furnace company, of St. Louis, for $12,100 damages for personal injuries. Underwood was employed by the defendant in dismantling the iron furnace at Third and Norton streets, and a lot of timber fell on his head. He alleges that he has been permanently injured.

T. J. Sanderson sues the Princess Furnace company, of St. Louis, for $1,500 damages for personal injuries. While assisting in tearing down the iron furnace at Third and Norton streets in the employ of the defendant, he had his arm broken.

OPERATIVE'S HAND TORN OFF BY THE MACHINERY

Joseph Hutchinson, 49 years old, residing on North Twelfth street, lost his right hand this morning through an accident at the Columbia Manufacturing company's plant. Elmer and Boyd streets. He was working with a machine supplied with spiked rollers, and his right arm was drawn into it. The spikes tore and lacerated his arm, tearing fingers off and flesh from the bones of the arm. Hutchinson was taken in the patrol wagon to Riverside hospital, where physicians amputated the hand.

ENGINE WATCHMAN WAS SCALDED IN ENGINE CAB

Charles Sanders, a young engine watchman at the Illinois Central round house, was seriously scalded last night between 8 and 9 o'clock. He was keeping up steam on an engine being assigned to an extra train. The injector became defective and began to emit steam and scalding water. Sanders felt the hot steam strike his right knee, and through the blinding vapor groped his way to the opening and jumped from the cab. His injury was dressed at the hospital. Sanders will be disabled from duty two weeks.

Col. Will S. Hays, Who Claimed Dixie, Dies at His Louisville Home

Louisville, Ky., July 21.—Colonel Will S. Hays, the veteran river editor of the Courier-Journal, song writer and poet, died at his home here last night of vertigo caused by a stroke of paralysis, suffered in the tropics, theater fire in Chicago. He was 70 years old. Colonel Hays has always claimed the authorship of the original words of "Dixie" and that he was responsible for the arrangement of the music. His version of "Dixie" was written at the outbreak of the Civil war, but the words were considered so seditions that the writer was arrested and compelled to change them. By that time, it is said, Dan Emmett, the minstrel, had written his song and his publisher had copyrighted it. "Molly Darling," the sales of which reached 2,000,000 copies in Europe and America. Among his other songs were "Keep in the Middle of the Road," "The Old Log Cabin in the Lane" and "Signal Hells at Sea."

GEN. TYLER SEEKS HIS VINDICATION

Charges That Mrs. T. J. Latham,
Daughter of Confederacy
She is Positive

HE COMES HERE IN HIS QUEST.

General H. A. Tyler, of Hickman, is in Paducah, seeking information which will once and for all settle a controversy, which has stirred up the daughters of the Confederacy at Memphis, Hickman and Paducah for several weeks. He expects to complete his work and return tomorrow. During the war many Paducahians were exiled from the city because of their attitude toward the Union. Mrs. T. J. Latham, a prominent Memphis society matron claims to have been one of this number, which is denied by General Tyler. A controversy, involving Paducahians and the printing of letter after letter in the Memphis Commercial Appeal, aroused members of the order, and so firmly does Captain Tyler believe that Mrs. Latham is wrong, that he has come to Paducah to seek old residents who will know, and learn the truth. He objected to her participation in functions of the W. D. C., because he says she rode in Union parades and used permits from the Union officers.

WINDS CAUSE DAMAGE IN MARSHALL COUNTY

Benton, Ky., July 21.—(Special.)—Wind, rain, hail and lightning made things lively around Benton yesterday afternoon. The rain did good and the hail was too scattering to do damage. But the wind moved one end of R. J. Fisher's tobacco barn, a mile northwest of Benton, slightly. Two cows, belonging to Lucien and Z. Burnham, at Glade, were killed by lightning.

White Pheasant Escapes.

While J. W. Egester, a colored attorney in the city, was standing at the Union station today at noon he felt a tug at his watch, but calmly replaced it in his pocket, and never noticed any attempt of a pickpocket to get it. Patrolman Aaron Hurley stepped around the corner just as the attempt was made, and a white man on seeing him ran into the woods.

Council's Error Makes Flood.

Madrid, La., July 21.—Because the ordinance providing for a new sewer system was found illegal, the city has closed the system, flooding the basements of residences and business houses.

The opening sermon last night was preached by the Rev. T. B. Ramsey, the veteran pastor of the Mayfield church, on "Let Your Light so Shine." The sermon this morning was preached by the Rev. W. T. Holling, of the Broadway church, Paducah, on "Foundation of the Church," a sermon which aroused the highest degree of enthusiasm. Tonight there will be an educational rally led by the Rev. W. J. McCoy, of Martin, Tenn.

The Rev. H. B. Yates was received from the Cumberland Presbyterian church, and the Rev. H. C. Yates from the Baptist church. Thomas Woodriddle, of Paducah, was pleased as a minister.

RETURNS TO OLD HOME AND IS DRIVEN AWAY

Sammel, alias Harry, Grogan, a Paducahian, who has been out of the city for several years, returned two days ago only to be fired out shortly after arrival. Chief of Police James Collins gave him just 20 minutes to get out of town this morning, and he took advantage of it, leaving for the railroad yards at double quick time. Grogan is alleged to have touched Samuel J. Vaughan, a Lola, Livingston county man, for $20 Monday night. Vaughan informed the police that the boy, who robbed him went by the name of Harry Grogan, and that he met him in Missouri only the week before. Vaughan had left town and there being no evidence against Grogan, Chief Collins decided it would be better to rid the town of his presence. He spent the night in the city jail.

NEARLY FIVE HUNDRED GO ON S. S. EXCURSION

AMERICAN PLAN

FOR COLLECTION OF DEBTS IS ADOPTED AT HAGUE.

Venezuela Calls for Union, Because of Drago Doctrine Rejection.

The Hague, July 24.—Dr. Ruy Barbosa, (Brazil) at today's session committee on arbitration, delivered a long speech supporting the American proposal regarding the collection of contractual debts and opposing the Drago doctrine. Baron Marshall Von Minneld, of Germany, then delivered an able speech on arbitration in general approving the American proposal. Speaking outside the conference today President Neldoff said it was necessary to accomplish as much work as possible before August 1 as a majority of delegates wish to leave by that date.

Sensational Demand.
Caracas, Venezuela, July 24.—Suggesting that Spanish-American republics meet in congress to proclaim the Drago doctrine, now that the powers have ignored it at The Hague, a correspondent of the official government newspaper, El Constitucional, is a presumably inspired article, sounds a note for "Union against a common enemy; against the ambitions and egotism of the strongest."

The article caused much comment in Caracas, because published on the day following the presentation by Minister Russell of Secretary Root's second note to Venezuela in which it says Castro's refusal in the demand for arbitration in five American claims is unacceptable. The United States is alluded to in connection with the annexation of Texas and the independence of Panama when the writer says:

"We have seen English, German and American warships off the Venezuela coast. In this way territory has been seized from Mexico and Colombia. Foreign interests are influential today in Ecuador, Central America and perhaps tomorrow will be in the whole continent."

RIVER NEWS

Business was good today at the wharf, and several steamers were receiving local freight for customers up the river. The river rose in the last 12 hours.

Workmen and Superintendent Taylor of the dry docks, are indignant at the refuse that is dumped into the river above the city and floats down stream. Much of it gets in among the dry docks and hinders the workmen until they dislodge the cause. The parties are unknown. This morning a large ham had floated against the docks.

The Rieke Lanch, "Marjorie," has been placed into the river off the dry docks, and she is in first-class trim. The boat presents a neat appearance, and has good speed.

The Joe Fowler was the Evansville packet today and business was rushing on this trip.

The Clyde will leave this evening for the Tennessee river with a good load of freight. The passenger list was crowded. This is Captain Wright's first trip out since he returned from the east.

Some Paducah People Have Learned How to Get Rid of Both.

Backache and kidney ache are twin brothers.

You can't separate them. And you can't get rid of the backache until you cure the kidney ache.

If the kidneys are well and strong the rest of the system is pretty sure to be in vigorous health.

Donn's Kidney Pills make strong healthy kidneys.

Thomas Housman, of 1145 North Thirtieth street, Paducah, Ky. says: "Donn's Kidney Pills which I procured at Dullols Son & Co.'s drug store a few months ago have done more for me than any other medicine I have ever taken for lame back and kidney trouble. For a time my kidneys were so bad that I was not able to work and was under the doctor's care for some time. I finally got relief and went back to work but I suffered most of the time with my back until I began using Donn's Kidney Pills. They gave me relief in a short time and now I feel as if I could not do without them in the house. A few doses taken now and then keep me free from pain, no lame back and I am able to work every day without suffering. What to do in Dyspepsia

Dieting has become a great fad in America, and just as, years ago, we as a nation, over-ate, so now we are under-eating. The one is as bad as the other. Man needs food and plenty of it to sustain life and to give strength to compete in this busy world.

It is not, however, the fact that you may eat too much that hurts you, but that you don't digest what you eat. And if that results in dyspepsia you will not cure the trouble by cutting down your food supply. If your digestive organs were creating the proper amount of gastric and pancreatic juices you would have no dyspepsia. To cure the disease you must create an abundance of these necessary juices.

This can only be done by a reliable tonic laxative, and its name indicates, Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin contains the very ingredients needed to do this. Take it regularly for awhile and you will find it does just what you need. It is a gentle, pleasant, effective laxative and you will like its taste and be pleased with the result.

One of the great friends of this remedy is Harry F. Keator, a lieutenant in one of the Chicago companies that fought at the battle of Gettysburg. While in the wet trenches, and eating the rough food of a soldier, he contracted severe dyspepsia and lost weight rapidly. A friend in the regiment called his attention to Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which he promptly began to use. It not only cured his dyspepsia but increased his weight 32 pounds.

Your druggist will sell you a bottle at 50 cents or 75 cents and you will find it worth a hundred times that to you.

Capt. Wm. Young declared before the committee that he would have shot the pilot dead had he had a gun. He also censured the mate, and by implication charged that the cowardice of the two men was responsible for the accident. Capt. Young is said to be the only officer of the boat who stayed by his post when the steamer damaged the pier. Pilot Burbach is charged with leaping from the boat to the pier and climbing to the railroad tracks above. Mate Leonard is also charged with leaping into the river and swimming until rescued.

The Way It Read.
The editor of a little western paper was in the habit of cheering up his subscribers daily with a column of short pertinent comments on their town, their habits, and themselves. The department on account of its intimate personal flavor was the most popular thing in the paper.

The editor, as he saw it growing in favor, gradually allowed himself a wider and wider latitude in his remarks, until the town passed much of its time conjecturing "what he'd say next."

On a hot day, when the sun was whistling gaily in the streets of the town, depositing everywhere its burden of sand, the editor brought forth this gem of thought:

"All the windows along Main street need washing badly."

The next morning he was waited on by a platoon of indignant citizens who confronted him with the paragraph in question fresh from the hands of the compositor and informed him fiercely that he had gone too far. After a hasty and horrified glance he admitted that he had.

It now read:

"All the widows along Main street need washing badly."—"Under the Spreading Chestnut Tree," in the August Everybody's.

"I thought you said your son was proficient in three languages?" "He is. He can talk stage slang, baseball slang and slang."—Chicago Record-Herald.

PERIODS OF PAIN

While no woman is entirely free from periodic suffering, it does not seem to be the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely. Irregularities and pain are positive evidence that something is wrong which should be set right or it will lead to serious derangement of the feminine organism.

Thousands of women, have found relief from all periodic suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from native roots and herbs, as it is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science.

It cures the condition which causes so much discomfort and robs women of their health and strength by taking

LABOR LEADER OFFERED BRIBE
Railroad, It Is Said, Agreed to Pay
$10,000 to End Strike.

London, Ky., July 24.—J. D. Hinchey, president of the International Association of Machinists, charged a bribe during a meeting of machinists here today. He declared that he had been approached by an alleged representative of the Louisville and Nashville railroad who offered him $10,000 to end the strike now on in the local shops of the company. J. A. McDaniel, business agent of the local union, was consulted when the offer was made and he refused to accept it. Hinchey, who is now on an affidavit containing the charges, said he would demand the return of the money.

WHY NOT JOIN THE Income Extension SOCIETY?

Your salary, wages, fees, commissions—no matter in what guise your income reaches you—should not entirely "satisfy" you. You should be alert to "piece it out", to extend it. For that is merely "making the most of it."

"THE INCOME EXTENSION SOCIETY" is purely a fictitious name for a very real and very active class of people in this city—THE PEOPLE WHO USE THE CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING COLUMNS OF THE SUN.

Some of these "income extenders" use the classified ads. for securing better employment, with higher wages. Some of them find them useful in securing private pupils for otherwise idle evenings. Some secure tenants, boarders, roomers, buyers for the not-used things in the house.

If you will look over the classified columns of THE SUN today you will get a hint of the sort of people who believe in "income extension" and how they go about the matter.

Position.

RUSSIA IS CONSERVATIVE.

Seoul, July 24.—The cabinet's report to the emperor of the former emperor's new pledge of abdication, was published and received the widespread approval that the first instance was in one of abdication, but of "superior comfort." It's subject, it is said, is an all night engagement with the former emperor, who, from his veiled admission of the validity of his abdication, secured the emperor's signature to a proclamation to the people, also an acknowledgment of the emperor's congratulations to have a successor. The working members of the cabinet who enjoy the position, are passing in and out of the palace with a guard. A majority of Japanese. The work of the cabinet will not be finished until the emperor is exiled from Seoul. This, if accomplished, without the possibility of the emperor's return, or some other tragedy, will be a landmark in Korean history.

Vice-minister Hayashi, foreign minister of Japan, whose presence in Korea, supported the emperor's abdication, is understood to suggest a council of the state with power to act for the emperor in the absence of the emperor.

The emperor's abdication, however, is a precedent in the history of the Japanese empire. The emperor's abdication, however, is a precedent in the history of the Japanese empire. The emperor's abdication, however, is a precedent in the history of the Japanese empire.

Great Place for Silk Worms.

All through the northern part of Italy the culture of silk worms is a great industry. This is probably due to the fact that the mulberry tree, the leaves of which constitute the food of the silk worm, requires for its perfect growth long cool thin warm, dry weather and thereby suffers in the rainy seasons of England and France.

Italy, with the eternal blue in her skies and perpetual warmth of her sun, is an ideal climate for its propagation. In soil rich and fertile, the mulberry tree exhausts the earth so far as other vegetation exists, but in Italy the trees are used as supports to the grape vines. The branches are all cut off so as to shade the vine, the leaves fed to the worms and the vines used for light and shade. In addition, there is a crop of grain between the rows of trees. This every foot of ground is cultivated.

The first interesting feature is the manner of planting the mulberry trees as regards their position in the vineyard. In Rome the grape vines are supported by a bamboo pole set up like that of a wigwam, but in central and northern Italy the useful mulberry trees are used, set out about twenty feet apart. They are allowed to branch once into five or six arms, these arms being kept an equal length all over the vineyard, only a few feet long and the stump of each arm is covered with young shoots that produce the food for the worms.

The tree increases only in its trunk. It is never allowed to grow tall. The grapevine is trained to grow to the point where the branches diverge, then is guided by a string to the next tree, so as to form festoons of vines from tree to tree all over the vineyard. All the sap from the roots goes into the comparatively few leaves that are allowed to grow and thus makes stronger fiber for the silk. It is said that when the food is poor or insufficient the quality of silk is apt to be coarse and adherent.

The cocoons which are to be kept to become butterflies next spring are held in cold storage until then, when they come out under proper treatment. The eggs are sold to farmers just as we sell grain. After the eggs hatch the tiny worm is put into a drawer-like receptacle, larvae piled upon each other with plenty of space for air between and fed upon finely cut mulberry leaves.

The worm eats eight days then sleep one day, at which time the drawers are cleaned; then they eat another eight days, sleep one, eat still another eight days, when the space between the drawer is increased to a foot and branches are put up and down for them to cling to and begin their spinning of the cocoon.

The spinning apparatus is near the mouth and connected with the silk bags, which are long and slender and contain a liquid gum; they are closed below and end above in slender tubes, one on each side, which unite to form the single spinning tube. The silk thread is formed by the contact of the air with the liquid gum and elongated by the long glandular organs. Every thread of silk is made up of two distinct strands.

When the spinning process is finished the cocoons are sent in baskets holding several bushels to the village where there are silk factories.

The process of unwinding is very painstaking. The usual method is to throw the cocoon into boiling water, which kills the chrysalis. A more humane method is merely to steam them over boiling water, which softens the glue sufficiently to allow the unwinding of the silk and permits the moth to come forth alive from the interior layer and deposit the eggs or prepare for a new brood.

The unwinding is from the center and one worm spins about 100 yards of thread.

ON POWDER TRUST FALLS NEXT BLOW

Suit Will be Instituted at Wilmington, Del.

Charges Are Made That Railroads Buy Patent Appliances and Suppress Them.

THE STATE SCISSORS GRINDER.

Washington, D. C., July 24.—Proceedings against the powder trust under the terms of the Sherman anti-trust act will be instituted at Wilmington, Del. the later part of the week. The suit for dissolution, which will embrace the receivership principle enunciated in the tobacco trust cases, will be filed by either Assistant Attorney General Russell or the United States attorney of the district in which Wilmington is located. A long list of defendants will be named in the government's bill. It is said that the case against the powder trust is the strongest of many prosecutions entered upon by the administration against the so-called "bad corporations."

Roads Quash Safety Alibi?

Charges have been submitted to the interstate commerce commission to the effect that certain railroads of the country are purchasing patents to safety devices and appliances and then suppressing their manufacture. The matter is regarded as serious, inasmuch as the officials declare that the number of wrecks is increasing each year, and this despite the law requiring the use of safety appliances on railroad trains. Announcement is made in this connection that a thorough investigation will be made by the commission.

Scissors Grinders on List.

Washington, July 24.—The civil service commission has given examinations on pretty near every subject from gasoline engines to advanced anthropology, and from literature back again to the circle of the bottle in horses. But it wasn't until today that the commission put scissors grinders on the classified list. The examination will be held next week and will not involve severe mental strain. Ability to put a barber's shop finish on a pair of government shears and a razor edge on a government knife will count pretty near all the points. The personal appearance of the applicant will not be a determining factor, save when it seems to indicate a settled aversion to soap.

It might be worse when Cupid's dart hits the heart of a broken heart. And so it may be in the future. —M. Reynolds Journal.

THIS SHEPHERD DOG CROWS EXACTLY LIKE A ROOSTER.

Statham, I. T., July 24.—Bill Patten, who lives two miles northeast of this place, has a shepherd dog that crows like a rooster.

The strange inclination the dog has had since he was a puppy, and he can imitate a rooster to perfection.

The inclination to crow seems to be just as natural to the dog as it is for him to bark, and every time a rooster flaps his wings and crows the dog will invariably answer with a crow that cannot be distinguished from the real rooster article.

The dog was raised by Dick Patten and was never trained to crow.

How to Abolish Loan "Sharks."

There is only one way to do away with the "shark." That is, to abolish the need of him. Laws against usury neither abolish poverty nor relieve it, and consequently the "shark" remains to supply the demand for his presence. The more risky the laws make his presence the higher his charges must necessarily be and the worse the plight of those who need him will become. Charity loan associations can not help those most in need of aid and at the same time remain both charitable and self-supporting. But these are facts which the average supporter of charity does not want to see. If he did, he would abandon his clearly futile attempt to strike at symptoms, and join his efforts with those who are trying to destroy the cause of poverty and so succeed in doing away with the need of both charity and "sharks." Paris Has Sensation, Spring by Gil Blas—Important Personages Concerned.

Paris, July 24.—Gil Blas is responsible for the sensational statement that it has been discovered that a former private secretary of the present minister of justice, M. Guyot-Dessaigne, at one time conducted a scandalous traffic in public offices, decorations and pardons.

According to the newspaper, which promises to publish the names of the parties concerned, a number of important personages, including M. Guyot-Dessaigne and some of his friends and relatives, are implicated in the transaction.

The publication of these charges has created a great stir, and recalls the notorious affair which compelled M. Grevy to resign in 1887.

Refer to Old Scandal.

The Times, however, assumes that the revelations made by Gil Blas refer to the old affair of M. Chaumie, who was minister of public instruction in the Combes and Rouvier cabinets and who shed the light for defamations of character. M. Chaumie has been interviewed on the matter and he declares it is ridiculous to speak of a repetition of the Wilson scandal. He says that neither he nor his sons are involved. M. Chaumie declared also that his brother-in-law

THE INSTITUTIONAL CHURCH.

The institutional church has been the practical thought in several sermons preached recently by the Rev. W. T. Holling, and this suggestion of a Christian worker of the years and experience of Dr. Holling may well be applied to the charge that the church of today is not fulfilling its functions. In other words, that it is "not keeping up with the times," not meeting the demands of modern requirements. There is nothing disrespectful in this charge. The church organization, even the most conservative, has changed its social life during the centuries.

The principal fault laid against the church is, that it has lost its hold on social life. That is a serious thought. The social life of the world is our life at play. It is during social hours the character of our pleasures is determined. When the church loses its hold on our social pastimes, we have only the material considerations of commercial life to restrain us from the natural inclination of the human heart to excess. This is the view of those churchmen who express alarm at the condition as they see it.

Unquestionably, in this country, especially, the spirit of individualism has begotten a consideration for the individual, that demands more attention to his bodily welfare. We are self-reliant in this age. We are medevelopment of institutions which, if not designed, are so conducted as to be practical substitutes for the church.

Whether reading it or not, people have found the church does not always meet the practical requirements of city life, and various organizations of women and men, have taken onto themselves the operation of charitable and eleemosynary institutions, college settlements and such like ventures. Some times, where these were expected to be close to the church, they have become practical substitutes, while lacking in every detail that spirituality, which has perpetuated the church for all these centuries.

It is for the purpose of making the church the center of social life, and the hub around which charitable organizations and like institutions radiate, and to direct the work of their promoters into channels that lead to the church, that some ministers are now advocating the institutional church.

In this view, perhaps, the Chicago divine, who told the divinity students that the day of the preacher is past, and that the church demands workers and organizers, was wholly right.

Well, you had one night's sleep.

Imagine a man so lost to gratitude as to get a cold drink on Sunday and then "turn state's evidence."

There will be no question raised as to the judgment of the Chicago paper, which offered a prize of $5 to anyone giving the best reason, why he needs the $5. The winner is a boy, 11 years old, who told of poverty, which prevented the best pitcher of their team taking a trip with the other boys, and concluded with the statement that if he had $5 he would buy a ticket for the pitcher. Any man, who was ever a boy, would have to concede that it would be a dire case, indeed, which would exceed the pressing necessity here represented.

It's nip and tuck between the price of wheat and the mercury.

Japan has one advantage over America in the handling of her dependencies. She is not bothered with any conscientious scruples, and is frankly exploiting Korea for her own advantage.

Before long the "German vote" will be a factor in McCracken county politics.

Now, here's a fellow in Trigg county, who said he joined the tobacco association to keep from being abused, and got shot for talking too much. We see more justification for the assault in his case than in most of the others. Our observation has been, that if a man possesses a discreet tongue and applies himself assiduously to his own business, he is pretty safe in any community. Of course, we do not know what provocation there is for these outrages. In Trigg county, sympathy naturally goes out to the most aggrieved party, especially when the attack is cowardly, as are all these night riding escapades. Perhaps, the provocation is minimized in the reports and the outrages magnified, but even, at that it is not a sense of loyalty to the organization that prompts such conduct. It is brute instinct; and we yet have hopes that identification of one or more of the night riders will be made possible ere long through the records of the coroner's office.

Hon. Con Lynn, of Calloway county, says he will be re-elected to the state senate in spite of the fancied opposition, says the Mayfield Messenger. He voted against the "county unit" bill at the last session of the legislature and for this he is threatened to be defeated. There is a rumor that Capt. Stone may enter the race against Mr. Lynn. If he does there will be lively times in that senatorial district.

It is difficult to understand by what authority the police judge is compelled to remand cases against juveniles to the county court for trial. It is true, the juvenile court statute provides, that prisoners of a certain age, shall be tried in the juvenile court, but the county court is not a juvenile court, and the fact that the county judge is the judge of the juvenile court, when there is one, does not legitimate any tribunal over which he presides a juvenile court. The county court neither in fact nor spirit conforms to the requirements for a juvenile court. This is not meant as criticism of the procedure adopted by Judge Lightfoot in cases of juvenile offenders presented before him, but every week there are cases, in which juvenile delinquents are remanded from the city court to the "juvenile court," when there is no such thing as a juvenile court in McCracken county.

Some Cambridge savant has photographed the canals on Mrs. Wonder if they were built by contract or under direction of the war department.

"The chief of police in Paducah," says the Mayfield Messenger, "has failed to put the lid on good and tight so far. It was taken on the streets in that city Saturday that the lid would be put on good and strong Sunday. But whiskey and beer were sold in some places all day Sunday. The Messenger would like for Mayor to put the lid on good."

BEST INSTITUTE IN RECENT YEARS

No Discussion of Unimportant Matters

All Are Taking Interest and Asking Questions That Show Appreciation of Work.

SEVERAL VISITORS SPEAK

The third day's session of McCracken county teachers' institute, like the second day, has been one of many beneficial features to teachers. Superintendent Billington is making every effort to make this the best institute ever held, and success so far is his.

Wrangling and debating over unimportant subjects, so conspicuous in former institutes, is not tolerated. Teachers are getting together in educational matters, and as a result much valuable time heretofore wasted is being utilized to an advantage. Another departure from the old regime is that teachers generally are taking an active part in all discussions, not requiring the instructor to do all the talking. The institute, as a result, is more like a big school. There is an absence of many old teachers who have taken an active part in the work heretofore. Those who have taken their places, however, exhibit progress to a marked degree, and are carrying the work through with great success and dispatch.

This morning several visitors were present, and speeches were heard from a few. Among those visiting today were Hon. John Moore, La. Center, former representative from Ballard, and also former superintendent of county schools there; Mrs. Adelle Burroughs, Lamont; Miss V. E. Hudson, Mather; Prof. A. M. House, city; Mrs. Iona Walker, city; Mrs. C. Overby, city; J. P. McQueen, C. C. Morris and L. W. Fezzor, city.

Morning Session.

The third day morning session began at 8 o'clock with devotional services by Mr. W. A. Middleton. This was followed by a recitation by Miss Nettie Perkins, who in turn was followed by Miss Dora Driffin in an excellent piano recitation.

Hon. John Moore, of La. Center, responded to an invitation to speak. He spoke a short time entertainingly on schools and education in general.

Mr. E. B. Jett discussed thoroughly "School Management, and the Code of Signals."

"Care of Blackboards and Desks" was a subject ably handled by Prof. J. W. Hughes, former superintendent of McCracken county. Prof. Hughes is still teaching, and his attention to buildings, desks, and school property have been the envy of others for years.

"Improvement of School Houses" was discussed by Superintendent S. J. Billington. Superintendent Billington has just built seven new schools for the county, and looked after the repairs of many others. Since he took charge the schools have shown a marked betterment in appearance and condition.

Prof. S. G. Boyd, of Dixon, who has been prominent in education in Georgia, spoke at length on schools in Kentucky as compared with those in Georgia. He stated that Kentucky schools are far ahead in methods and results.

Prof. Boyd was followed by Mrs. Muscoe Burnett, of the Woman's Club, who spoke on education in general and the introduction of special features.

"Ideals of Discipline" was a difficult subject very ably handled by Prof. H. C. Ellis.

Under the head of discipline, "The Means as an End" was interestingly discussed by C. B. Alexander.

"Rules and Regulations" was a subject bringing forth much discussion, led by Lou Harper.

Before the adjournment this morning "Arithmetic" was taken up and "The Second Year in Numbers" ably explained in detail by L. W. Fezzor.

At 12 o'clock adjournment was taken until 2 o'clock this afternoon when the subject of "Arithmetic" was continued.

Tuesday Afternoon Work.

Tuesday afternoon proved a busy one, the following subjects being dissected thoroughly:

"Geography—What It Is," by George B. Orr; "Excursions," Miss Ada Long.

"History—What It Is," H. E. Wilson; "Value of History," Paul Chambers.

Writing.

"Preparations for Lessons," Miss May Nicholson.

"Devices for Forms," Bessie Billington.

"Practice Paper," Miss Zula Wren.

"Recitation—Causes of Trouble," Misses Grace Hughes and Lillie Knott.

"Uniformity," H. E. Varbro and Miss Maggie Harrison.

"Time of Writing," Misses Nettie Perkins and Mae Young.

This completed the course in writing.

IMMIGRATION

IS BEING STUDIED AT CLOSE RANGE BY CONGRESS.

Committee Divides in Europe and Covers Whole Territory in Given Space of Time.

Berlin, July 24.—The members of the American immigration commission who, under the leadership of Senator William P. Billingham of Vermont, came to Europe to make a thorough investigation of immigration conditions, are returning here preparatory to going down to Hamburg. They separated shortly after their arrival in Italy in order to cover the various countries in their territory with the least loss of time.

Comfortable Shirts

The man with a comfortable shirt is pretty sure to be comfortable all over.

It doesn't take an expert to tell when a shirt is comfortable, but it takes an expert to make one comfortable. It has to be roomy, well-shaped, well-sewed; the sleeves aren't be too long, the collar must not be cut too low or too high.

When a man once finds a comfortable shirt, he comes back for the same brand, year after year.

Some even get to know the kind of box they are packed in and won't look at the shirts at all, if they don't see the right box.

RIVALS FIGHT WITH AUTOS:

MACHINES BROKEN IN JOUST

Columbus, Ind., July 24.—Mounted in automobiles, instead of on horses, and clad in linen dusters and goggles instead of armor, George Medlam and E. E. The challenge was issued when Medlam drove close by Rorer's machine and Rorer asked him to be careful. This angered Medlam, who backed his auto into the other, scratched the paint. Rorer, seeing this, backed into Medlam's machine, and the joust was on.

HOT WEATHER SUGGESTIONS.

Every chance acquaintance, these hot days, can tell you what to do to keep well and cool, but the safest advice is keep close to Nature.

Nature says don't drink very much ice water—use the tempered water.

Don't eat heating dishes, warm meats, and heavy vegetables, but confine yourselves to light vegetables and fruits, and cold meats.

Nature, also, says, and its injunction is in strong terms, to keep the system in good condition, the liver, bowels, stomach, kidneys and skin as every one contributes to health or ill health.

Osteopathy is Nature's treatment, and the most rational for all diseases, especially the ailments incident to hot weather. Those weak, tired out and run-down conditions; dull headaches; disturbed bowel conditions, and torpid liver yield quickly to its application.

But, let me tell you my time, of people you know well, who will tell you the same.

Rain in the County.

Sections of McCracken county received a good rain yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock, and other sections were remembered with only a sprinkle and a little wind. Highland had a heavy rain, and today the crops look refreshed. A good rain fell at Little Cypress and for 15 minutes half fell in large lumps. Little damage was done to tobacco by the fall. Mason Mills is still dry, as the sprinkler yesterday afternoon did not settle the dust. It has been three weeks since any rain of value has fallen and crops are hurrying up under the hot rays of the sun. Farmers are discouraged. Revill reports a nice sprinkle that cooled the air and made a cool night for sleeping, and a light wind with no damage. Farmers at Milford had a good rain, and crops are showing the result today. With the rain at Sharp a light fall fell but no damage is reported more than the blowing down of corn.

CHICAGOAN FOUND MURDERED.

Adam Corros Supposed to Have Been Killed for His Money.

Gastford, Mich., July 24.—The body of Adam Corros, about 20 years old, who came from Chicago about two weeks ago with a party of men to take the place of some striking lumbermen, was found today in a lonely spot near the falls, among the ruins of the Grand Rapids and Indiana road. He had been murdered. The body was lying in a small pool of stagnant water, face down. The ground indicated there had been a fierce struggle. His clothing was badly torn and his pockets turned inside out.
Saturday morning some of his party left the lumber camp for Boyne Falls to return to their homes, being dissatisfied with the conditions there. When they arrived at that village some of them behaved quite freely, and it is supposed that all their money, Corros, who is said to have been of a quiet disposition, kept his, and it is supposed that when his companions saw that he meant to keep it, they decided to take it from him. They are now being sought by the police of the village.
There seems to have been a trouble between Corros and his companions, but the exact nature of it is not known. It is said that Corros was a Chicagoan and that he was a member of the Chicago Police Department. He was said to have been a member of the Chicago Police Department and that he was a member of the Chicago Police Department.

Thoughts on Liberty.

Safety lies in the balance of power. People good enough for self-government have it.

The old world may be wrong, but it cannot be righted in a day.

Independence in men or nations is an achievement, not a bequest.

Humility enjoys more freedom today than ever before since the world began.

Every government exists by the consent of the governed, and people get about the kind of government they deserve.

If some men had not questioned the justice of the law and defied the law, there would be today no such thing as freedom.

The law in America is for the people, of the people, and by the people, and when this is not the case the people are themselves to blame.

We are all just getting rid of our shackles. Listen closely anywhere, and among honest and intellectual people, and you can detect the rattle of chains.

For the first time in the history of the world, it is the general feeling of mankind that freedom of thought and speech is a good thing, and that the masses can safely be trusted with it.

No power is great enough to blind the mind—thought forever escapes the five civil liberties to us, not by approving all religions, but by permitting in patience what Providence allows. Elbert Hubbard in July 1913, Lincoln's Message.

It isn't any funnier to hear a man making love-promises than it is to see a woman believing him.

SIXTEEN ADDED TO THE SURVIVORS

Ninety-Seven Columbia Passengers Not Accounted For

Story of Collision Graphically Related by One of Ship's Officers, Who Escaped.

OFFICIALS MAKE A DENIAL.

San Francisco, July 21. Sixteen names were added today to the list of survivors of the Columbia San Pedro collision. These sixteen were in the boat which landed at Shelter Cove. The boat also contained two dead bodies, Mrs. O. A. Lewis, of Pasadena, Cal., and an unidentified man, presumably a sailor. The survivors now total 160 out of a reported total of 257 on board. Those bodies have been recovered. Ninety-seven are still unaccounted for. These added to the list of survivors today included H. B. Krieger, of Prescott, Iowa; Jacob Pore, of Coldwater, Kan.; Mrs. Klunkblock, Dunn, Poplar Bluff, Mo.; Miss Ruby Cooper, Fayette, Mo.

Official Makes Denial.

San Francisco, July 24. Vice President and General Manager H. P. Schwerin, of the San Francisco and Portland Steamship company, asked today for an official statement regarding the Columbia disaster.

"I do not see that there is anything I can say except to express profound sorrow and deep sympathy with those who have suffered. The steamship company is not, owing to interrupted wire service with Encke, in possession of anything additional to that which has been secured by the newspapers. Formal inquiry into the disaster will be held by state officials entrusted with such duties.

Mr. Schwerin denied the charge that the wreck in a large measure was due to the habit of coastwise masters to "hug the shore," in order to save coal. He said:

"That charge is absolutely false and nothing better illustrates its falsity than the fact that the Columbia was fourteen miles off shore. The extreme range of the light-house lamps is only 20 miles and masters must be within that range to get bearings, especially in foggy weather."

Wire Interrupted.

San Francisco, July 21. Communication with Encke is still interrupted and no further details of the Columbia disaster have been received.

Story of the Wreck.

San Francisco, July 24. Three officers of the Columbia who arrived here today on the Panama, made statements under oath to inspectors of Halls and Rollers Bibles and Balger.

Second Officer Richard Agernup said: "About 12:15 a. m. Sunday I heard a whistle on the starboard bow, and reported to the captain, who said he had heard it too. We kept the whistle going as did the other steamer. We were going full speed ahead, as shown by indicator on the bridge. The captain ordered me to blow two blasts. While blowing the second blast the other steamer answered with one blast. The captain then ordered full speed astern and soon after the steamers collided."

"Captain Doran shouted to the other steamer to stand by us. The first officer came on the bridge and the captain ordered him to take the bridge and me to take off the head covers and get the boats ready. By this time the ship listed to starboard. The captain ordered me to get the after life rafts adrift. While doing this I heard a whistle blow, and saw the bridge was nearly under water. I saw there was no time to spare, so threw a life buoy overboard, jumped over the stern. As I struck the water the Columbia disappeared. About thirty minutes later I was picked up in No. 10 boat by one of the quarter-masters."

Cured Lung Trouble.

"It is now eleven years since I had a narrow escape from consumption," writes C. O. Floyd, a leading business man of Kershaw, S. C. "I had run down in weight to 125 pounds, and coughing was constant, both by day and by night. Finally I began taking Dr. Kline's New Discovery, and continued this for about six months, when my cough and lung trouble were entirely gone and I was restored to my normal weight, 170 pounds. Thousands of persons are healed every year. Guaranteed at all drug stores, 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free."

Battle for Moroccan Throne.

Meilla, Morocco, July 21. An engagement between forces of the sultan and of the pretender is in progress near here. Troops of the sultan are attacking the forces of the pretender from the land side, while the gunboat Sidi el Turk is bombarding them from the sea. The outcome still is undecided.

M. J. & K. C. LINE WILL COME NORTH

Where it Will Cross Ohio River is in Doubt

Official Interviewed in St. Louis Tells of Plans of Company as Far as Formed.

NEW ORLEANS AND CHICAGO.

The Mobile, Jackson & Kansas City will be the shortest line from St. Louis to Chicago to New Orleans and Mobile, according to President I. S. Berg, who was interviewed in St. Louis. He said that it will not only be a shorter route than the Illinois Central, but a finally constructed still be even shorter than as compared in the plans which were mentioned several months ago.

Mr. Berg stated that the Mobile-Jackson is an independent line, not affiliated with any of the large systems, and that the company is at liberty to make whatever extensions it may deem best. The intention, which the former executive admitted had been to build a New Orleans from Laurel, Miss., and to connect with the Chicago & Eastern Illinois at Joplin, Mo.

Connections.

"We shall build an extension from our northern terminus, Middletown, Tenn.," said Mr. Berg, "to the Ohio river, but we have not yet reached a decision as to the preferable point on the Ohio. There are several St. Louis and Chicago connections which we might make at the Ohio river, or at Toledo on the Mississippi river."

"It may be regarded as a certainty that St. Louis will figure in our plans. I am and always have been impressed with the importance of St. Louis as a traffic center. St. Louis is rapidly becoming a greater factor in the territory traversed by our road."

"Although I have not studied out carefully the problem of extensions, I am sure that the Mobile-Jackson can be made the shortest line from St. Louis and Chicago to the Gulf of Mexico. As a little, if any, consideration will be given to the proposition concerning extensions until we find improvements to the existing line."

"We have no terminal of our own in Mobile, as ours are at Frankfurt, about two miles out, but we shall be able, I am assured, to get into Mobile at any time on the tracks of the Mobile & Ohio. This is a question which will come up later on."

Improvements.

"On roadbed and track we are in good position from Mobile northward, or a distance of about 150 miles. We shall begin immediately to improve the roadbed and lay new track to Middletown, Tenn. This work will take about six months, and then we shall determine on the problem regarding extensions."

"My object in coming to St. Louis was to contract for new equipment. We have ordered 1,000 new freight cars, ten new passenger coaches and twenty new locomotives."

Mr. Berg was asked whether the Illinois Central is, as has been reported, back of the Baton Rouge, Hammond & Eastern. He said that it is not.

"The Baton Rouge, Hammond & Eastern," he stated, "will be a connecting line for many lines in the south and southwest. It will be a serviceable connecting line for the Mobile-Jackson, although it will not do as a New Orleans route for the Mobile-Jackson."

Is assured when you buy Dr. Pierce's family medicines—for all the ingredients entering into them are selected from the best sources and are guaranteed to be of the highest quality and of the most perfect character. You know just what you are getting for your money, and that the ingredients are gathered from Nature's laboratory, being selected from the most valuable native medicinal roots found growing in our American forests, and the potent to cure are perfectly harmless. Not a drop of alcohol enters into their composition. A much better agent is used both for extracting and preserving the medicinal properties of the ingredients. This agent possesses intrinsic medicinal properties of its own, being a most valuable antiseptic and antiferment, nutritive and soothing element.

Glycerine plays an important part in Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery in the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia, and weak stomach, attended by sour risings, heart-burn, foul breath, coated tongue, poor appetite, gnawing feeling in stomach, biliousness and general derangement of the stomach, liver and bowels. Besides curing all the above distressing ailments, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a specific for all diseases of the mucous membranes, as catarrh, whether of the nasal passages or of the stomach, bowels or pelvic organs. Even in its ulcerative stages it will yield to this sovereign remedy. It is the best remedy for the chronic Catarrh of the Nasal Passages, it is well, while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" for the necessary constitutional treatment, to cleanse the passages freely two or three times a day with Dr. Sage's Catarrh Remedy. This thorough course of treatment generally cures the worst cases.

In coughs and hoarseness caused by bronchitis, throat and lung affections, colds, consumption in its advanced stages, the "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most efficient remedy, especially in those obstinate, long-continued coughs caused by irritation and congestion of the bronchial mucous membranes. The "Golden Medical Discovery" is not a cure for acute coughs arising from sudden colds nor does it cure the chronic, dry cough, which, if neglected, or badly treated, leads up to consumption. It is the best medicine that can be used.

French-Canadian Responds to Toast

Ophe Reed, one of the greatest story tellers of the south, and well-known Bruce Ambury, the French-Canadian poet, will be on the program at the same time at the Jeffersonville and New Albany Banquet in August. This will be a source of gratification to both, since they are the strongest personal friends. A banquet was given in honor of Reed at the French Club of Chicago on May 2, 1902, and Ambury responded to the toast "Ophe Reed" with the following French-Canadian dialect poem. His language was so good that the English language was not heard. On State of Illinois.

He must not be netted within so many yards of the seaward hall of the estuary. He may not be caught whole. The nets must have a mesh three lengths of feet. They must not be set between 7 p. m. on a Friday and 7 a. m. on a Monday.

Alvord in every aspect, the salmon is given exceptional chances of longevity. His price is high as his culinary reputation, and the obvious reason to all those persons is that certain notorious persons, known as poachers, try every artifice to defeat the law and capture him.

A favorite device is to run out a large quantity of nets as fast as such a net was as the foot of the cliff crowned by dense forest. No one can say the operations from the land while a chance of escape from the water falls, which, once over, are sometimes made conveniently done.

When Philip hurried into the place, his naked body shone white, like the plumage of some bird of the tropics. Indeed, a man who was laboring with a cold in a zigzag course, while two others paid out a net so that his sweeping curves might embrace any wandering salmon was found him self within its meshes, marked the falling body in its first intemperate passage and thought at first that some huge red fish had dived after its prey.

But the loud splash startled the three men. Not so did a comical or a white winged salmon plunge to secure an unwary bird.

The net attendants straightened their backs, the oarsmen stood up. The disturbance was so near, so unexpected that it alarmed them. They looked aloft, thinking that a rock had fallen. They looked to the small eddy caused by Philip's disappearance to see if any sign would be given explanatory of an unusual occurrence.

Were Philip thrown from such a height when in full possession of his senses in all likelihood such growth as was in his lungs at the moment of his fall would have been expelled by the time he reached the water.

He must have resisted the rush of air, uttered involuntary cries, struggled wildly with his limbs.

But as it changed, his rough handling in carrying him to the balcony must have acted the vital forces that were restoring him to consciousness.

He was on the very threshold of renewed life when he fell, and the downward flight helped rather than retarded the process. Indeed, the rush of air was grateful. He sank in the viscous drift and inflated his lungs readily. His sensations were those of a man immersed in a warm bath, and the shock of his collision with the surface of the sea in nowise retarded the recuperative effect of the dive.

Of course he was fortunate after falling from such a height in striking the water with his right shoulder. No portion of the human body is so fitted to bear a heavy blow as the shoulders and upper part of the back. Had he dropped vertically on his head or his feet he might have sustained serious injury. As it was, after a tremendous dive and a curve of many yards beneath the sea he looked up inside the salmon net within a few feet of the boat.

Instantly the fishermen saw that it was a man, an absolutely naked man, who had thus dropped from the sky.

They were amazed, very frightened indeed, but they readily hailed in the dragging net and brought Philip near the boat. Even at this third stage of his adventure he incurred a terrible risk.

Unable to help himself in the least degree and swallowing salt water rapidly now, he rolled away lightly as the net rose under the energetic efforts of his rescuers. There was grave danger that he should drop back into the depths, and then he must sink like a stone.

The KING of DIAMONDS.

By Louis Tracy,

COPYRIGHT, 1904, BY EDWARD J. CLODE.

CHAPTER XXI.
WHEN Philip's almost lifeless body was flung over the cliff it was only feet at the very base of the rock. At each half mile and especially in stormy weather an irresistible earthen sweep away a sand deposit and showed off projecting masses of stone, so that it is the course of the overhanging cliff must be under and fall into the sea.

High tide or low, there was always sufficient water to float a battleship, and the place was noted as a favorite look for salmon, at that season preparing for their annual voyage to the sylvan streams of the moorland valleys.

The lordly salmon is peculiar in his habits. Delighting at one period of the year to roam through the ocean wilds at another he seeks shallow rivers, in whose murmur he finds his source of life.

And the law protects him most jealously. In the river he is guarded like a king, and when he clusters at its mouth, he is made up to his mind to try a change of water, as a monarch might visit his lands for a change of air, he can only be caught under certain severe restrictions.

He must not be netted within so many yards of the seaward hall of the estuary. He may not be caught whole. The nets must have a mesh three lengths of feet. They must not be set between 7 p. m. on a Friday and 7 a. m. on a Monday.

Alvord in every aspect, the salmon is given exceptional chances of longevity. His price is high as his culinary reputation, and the obvious reason to all those persons is that certain notorious persons, known as poachers, try every artifice to defeat the law and capture him.

A favorite device is to run out a large quantity of nets as fast as such a net was as the foot of the cliff crowned by dense forest. No one can say the operations from the land while a chance of escape from the water falls, which, once over, are sometimes made conveniently done.

When Philip hurried into the place, his naked body shone white, like the plumage of some bird of the tropics. Were Philip thrown from such a height when in full possession of his senses in all likelihood such growth as was in his lungs at the moment of his fall would have been expelled by the time he reached the water.

He must have resisted the rush of air, uttered involuntary cries, struggled wildly with his limbs.

But as it changed, his rough handling in carrying him to the balcony must have acted the vital forces that were restoring him to consciousness.

He was on the very threshold of renewed life when he fell, and the downward flight helped rather than retarded the process. Indeed, the rush of air was grateful. He sank in the viscous drift and inflated his lungs readily. His sensations were those of a man immersed in a warm bath, and the shock of his collision with the surface of the sea in nowise retarded the recuperative effect of the dive.

Of course he was fortunate after falling from such a height in striking the water with his right shoulder. No portion of the human body is so fitted to bear a heavy blow as the shoulders and upper part of the back. Had he dropped vertically on his head or his feet he might have sustained serious injury. As it was, after a tremendous dive and a curve of many yards beneath the sea he looked up inside the salmon net within a few feet of the boat.

They were amazed, very frightened indeed, but they readily hailed in the dragging net and brought Philip near the boat. Even at this third stage of his adventure he incurred a terrible risk.

Unable to help himself in the least degree and swallowing salt water rapidly now, he rolled away lightly as the net rose under the energetic efforts of his rescuers. There was grave danger that he should drop back into the depths, and then he must sink like a stone.

Instantly the fishermen saw that it was a man, an absolutely naked man, who had thus dropped from the sky.

They were amazed, very frightened indeed, but they readily hailed in the dragging net and brought Philip near the boat. Even at this third stage of his adventure he incurred a terrible risk.

Wearing their heavy sea boots, none of the fishermen, though each was an expert swimmer, dared to jump into the water. But the oarsman, being a person of resource and reasoning rapidly that not the most enthusiastic salmon hunter in England would pursue him in such manner, grabbed a bookish and grizzled Philip with it beneath the arm.

He only used the slight force needed to support him until another could grasp him. They lifted the half-drowned man on board, turned him on his face to permit the water to flow out of his lungs and, instantly, covering him, began to raise his clothes and press them against his sides.

Soon he breathed again, but he remained unconscious, and a natural instinct caused blood to flow freely from the back of his head.

Of course the men were doing their utmost throughout this unparalleled experience.

"Where is he?"
"Where did he come from?"
"No one but a keen wind had jumped off you?"

"He looked as when he was born."
At last one of them said his English. He pointed out the vessel to the companions.

"It was never seen by falling from the water," he said.

They agreed. The thing was mysterious. Philip's youth, his pale, his delicate skin, the texture of his hair, the cleanliness of his teeth and nails, were quick tokens to the fishermen that something other than the common run of sea-side accidents had taken place. The oarsman, a man of much intelligence, hit on an explanation.

"The man was down to the cliff after a bird," he cried. "A man of the sea, I have heard of him before."
"Man alive," cried one of his mates, "wouldn't strip to the skin for that?"

This was unanswerable. Not one of them thought of the possible danger. They had a hasty consultation. One of them offered a wager for Philip's head, and then they hastily covered him with oil-skin coat and a cap.

It was now nearly dark, so they carried a torch, and, for their net, slipped away and pulled lightly to their boat. The torch on the cliff of the river had been lit. Suddenly, arrived there, they carried Philip to the house of one who was the proud owner of a "spare" bed.

And now a fresh difficulty arose. A doctor and a policeman should be summoned. A messenger was dispatched at once for the nearest medical man, who lived a mile and a half away, but the policeman, who dwelt in the village, was a bird of another color.

These men were poachers, lawbreakers. At various times they had all been found for illegal fishing. The policeman was of an inspiring turn of mind. He might fall to understand the mystery of the cliff, but he would most certainly appreciate every detail of their presence in that particular part of the sea which lapped his base.

So they smoked and talked and tried rough remedies until the doctor arrived.

To him they told the exact truth. He passed no comment, examined his patient, cut away the hair from the scalp wound, shook his head over it, and said in a halfhearted, sotto-voce manner and sat down to await the return of consciousness.

But this was long delayed, and when at last Philip opened his eyes he only rallied sufficiently to sleep.

The doctor continued to come early next day and left.

Throughout Wednesday and Thursday Philip was fairly delirious, walking in a dreamy way, and in the middle of the street, the tracks have been moved to the east side of the street, within two feet of the building of the peanut factory. Dividing the rails from the brick street is a stone curbing two feet high and it is impossible for heavily loaded wagons to go over the curbing. Between the ties in the track the railroad company has placed neither dirt nor gravel.

When the vote was taken the work was accepted, but President Whitcomb and Mr. George Laughton went on record as being opposed to the plan of the improvement. It is understood that Messrs. Keger and Scott will again the city from collecting their part of the expense of the improvement until the tracks are arranged so that vehicles may pass over them.

Improvement of Clay street between Seventeenth and Nineteenth streets by grading and graveling was accepted by the board.

If the city must keep up the curbing to be placed on Jefferson boulevard the traction company and residents must place a curbing of stone, but if the company and residents will accept a bond to keep up the curbing, concrete may be used. This action is taken in view of the alleged failure of concrete curbing in the city.

The board purchased 110 barrels of cement from the Memphis Asphalt and Paving company at cost, and also between five and ten feet of pipe of various sizes. The cement will be used in constructing the culvert over Hawkshead's creek, on Broadway.

The light and power company reported the break in the gas mains at Tenth and Main streets, where T. N. Helgeson & Sons are constructing the sewers. The company alleges the contractors did not use proper care in bracing the excavations. The board notified Mr. Helgeson that care must be taken to protect the pipes already in the ground.

That won't come up as an objection after one bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge, the great worm medicine. Why not keep that article on baby's shelf? If you keep that medicine on hand you will never see anything else but worms on his face. Mr. S. C. Blackwell, Okla., writes: "My baby was peevish and fretful. Would not eat and I feared he would die. I used a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and he has not had a sick day since." Sold by J. H. Goldschlager, Lang Bros. and P. C. Ripley.

All this, save the promise of help, the doctor said with his tongue in his cheek. He had not the slightest intention of permitting Philip to travel next day. It was out of the question. He held his peace with him in the morning and if possible bring his friends to York, rather than send him to London.

But the police must be informed at once. It was more than likely the criminals had left the Grange House soon after the attempted murder. Yet, if Philip did not object, a policeman should be summoned, and the tale told to him. The man should be warned to keep the story out of the papers.

The arrival of the constable at a late hour created consternation in the household. But the doctor knew his people.

"Have no fear, Mrs. Verrell," he whispered to the fisherman's wife; "your husband caught a fine fish when he lost Mr. Nelson into his net. He will not need to touch salmon any more."

The doctor sat by Philip's bed while the policeman made clumsy notes of that eventful Tuesday night's occurrences.

Then in his turn he narrated his hearers.

RAILWAY TRACKS ON FIRST STREET

Obstruct Crossing the Way They Are Laid

Protest Made To Board of Public Works By Those Who Are Injured.

CLAY STREET WORK ACCEPTED.

First street improvements did not meet the satisfaction of the board of public works yesterday afternoon when the members made a personal inspection. As far as the work of the Memphis Asphalt and Paving company went, it was carried out according to the contract, and the board officially accepted the paving and improvements for the city.

Protest was made personally to Messrs. R. H. Scott and James Keger as to the manner in which the Illinois Central railroad tracks had been laid. Instead of being in the middle of the street, the tracks have been moved to the east side of the street, within two feet of the building of the peanut factory. Dividing the rails from the brick street is a stone curbing two feet high and it is impossible for heavily loaded wagons to go over the curbing. OHIO STATE COMMITTEE WILL ROOM HIM SATURDAY.

Efforts of Senators Unavailing To Stem Tide in Favor of War Secretary.

Cleveland, July 24.—Secretary William H. Taft will be endorsed for the presidency at the meeting of the Republican state central committee next Saturday at Columbus.

In many quarters it would not cause surprise if that action were unanimous. Senator Foraker has maintained headquarters at Cincinnati and both he and Senator Dick have been conducting a quiet campaign, but their efforts seemingly have been in vain, for at least 16 of the 21 central committeemen have declared for Taft.

FLOOD RECEDES

DAMAGE IN WISCONSIN EVEN GREATER.

Another Fatality Attends Wash Out of Valleys of Northwestern Streams.

La Crosse, Wis., July 24.—The receding of the flood of Sunday and Monday shows the damage in western Wisconsin to be even greater than it was at first reported. The grain and hay crops of three counties are practically destroyed while in the villages and cities the damage amounts to hundreds of thousands of dollars.

East of La Crosse the damage will take a week to repair, some of the largest bridges having been washed away.

Vernon, the county seat of Vernon county, has been cut off from the outside world, except by telephone, since Sunday and will have no mail for a week.

Not a farm in La Crosse, Coon or Upper Kaskaskia river valleys escaped damage. The damage to the five railroads centering at La Crosse will amount to hundreds of thousands of dollars.

The fatality list was increased by Charles Thompson, aged 9 years, son of Mrs. Sam Olson, living between Bristol and Hardy, Vernon county. The boy was carried away on the flood.

The Big Four department at Mattoon and it probably will be placed on the market within a few weeks. The contrivance is designed to prevent the wrecking of a train when it accidentally backs in two by the side running in the emergency clambones. Every loss of property and often life is saved from this cause, and only recently the crew of a Big Four freight train was badly shaken up and several men damaged in the manner. The big wreck was caused by the same thing, the train backing in two and then being dished by the sudden application of the emergency brakes. Carlo Lugheini

THREE THOUSAND CRIMINAL CASES MAY NEVER BE TRIED.

Muskogee, T. T., July 24.—The annual report of Leo E. Bennett, marshal of the Western district, will show that there are 3,000 criminal cases on the records of this district which have not been tried and which, in all probability, never will be.

These are cases that have been accumulating on the dockets and can not be pressed to trial. It is provided that these cases shall be transferred to the state courts when statehood comes, but lawyers agree that such cannot be done.

The offense charged in all of these cases is against the United States, and the state cannot be offended by a crime against the United States committed before the state shall have been created.

The condition that exists in this district exists in some degree in the other three judicial districts.

Instinct and Intelligence.

"While it is, of course, a platitude to say that a wise teacher learns by instructing others," recently observed an instructor in a preparatory school in Brooklyn "it is permissible to remark that he frequently picks up some curious information in this way."

"I once asked a boy to explain to me the difference between instinct and human intelligence. It was a pretty hard question, but the lad was equal to it."

"If we had instinct," he said "we should know everything we needed to know without learning it; but we've got reason, and so we have to study ourselves 'most hard or be a fool!"
